Venezuela's National Assembly Declares Sidor of Public and Social Interest

Luxembourg, April 30, 2008 – Ternium S.A. (NYSE: TX) announced today that the National Assembly of the Republic of Venezuela passed a resolution declaring that the shares of Ternium's majority-owned subsidiary Sidor, C.A., together with all of its assets, are of public and social interest. This resolution authorizes the Venezuelan government to take any action it may deem appropriate in connection with any such assets, which may include expropriation.

While continuing to preserve all of its rights under contracts, investment treaties and Venezuelan and international law, Ternium is prepared to continue discussions with the Venezuelan government regarding the adequate and fair terms and conditions upon which all or a significant part of Ternium's interest in Sidor would be transferred to the government.

Forward Looking Statements

Some of the statements contained in this press release are "forward-looking statements". Forward-looking statements are based on management's current views and assumptions and involve known and unknown risks that could cause actual results, performance or events to differ materially from those expressed or implied by those statements. These risks include but are not limited to risks arising from uncertainties as to gross domestic product, related market demand, global production capacity, tariffs, cyclicity in the industries that purchase steel products and other factors beyond Ternium's control.
